

House Rules

Participants attending the Hong Kong Awards for Environmental Excellence (HKAEE) Presentation Ceremony must comply with the following rules stipulated by the Organisers:

1. Only confirmed registered participants shall be admitted to the Presentation Ceremony. Participants have to present valid confirmation email admission. The Organisers reserve the right to refuse admission of any person who fails to comply with the above arrangement.
2. All admission confirmation is non-transferrable. Valid admission confirmation must be conspicuously presented when entering the venue.
3. Participants must dress in proper attire. Participants in improper attire shall not be admitted to the venue. Any person may be refused entry if their clothing or accessories carry the following messages (including text and graphics):
 - o political, racial, religious or offensive messages; and
 - o flags, designs or messages that may be used for protest or demonstration.
4. To ensure public safety and order at the venue, participants shall not bring any plastic, glass, metal bottles or containers, bottled or canned drinks or any other dangerous items into the venue. Loudhailers, amplifiers, flags, banners, posters, placards, buntings, flyers or publicity materials of any kinds shall not be brought into and/or used/displayed in the venue without prior permission of the Organisers. The Organisers reserve the right to refuse admission of any uncooperative participant/person or remove such person from the venue.
5. Interference with the smooth running of the event in any form is strictly prohibited. Persons entering into or inside the venue should not intentionally cause any obstruction to the entrance, exit, staircase, passage, district passageway, emergency exit or emergency passageway of the venue. Chanting of slogans, shouting, distribution or display of materials, or behaviour in any form that may disrupt the event and/or affect other participants shall be prohibited. No promotional materials, souvenirs and give-away items may be distributed in the venue without prior permission from the Organisers. Offenders may be removed from the venue immediately.
6. The Organisers and security staff at the venue have the authority to invite any person present to undergo security checking; and to show personal belongings and bags. Participants who refuse to undergo security checking without good reason may be denied entry and be removed from the venue.

The Organisers and security staff at the venue may intercept or interdict persons who constitute a threat to event safety and order for any reason, including those apparently under the influence of alcohol or drugs and those in possession of dangerous items or substances. Such persons may be denied from entry or be removed from the venue.

7. Outside food or drinks shall not be brought into and/or consumed in the venue without prior permission of the Organisers. Eating and drinking are not allowed in the Presentation Ceremony venue.
8. Participants shall follow the advice of the staff of the Organisers during the event. The Organisers reserve the rights to deny entry to the venue or remove from it any person who fails to comply with the above rules and regulations. Such persons are not allowed to re-enter the venue during the event.
9. Interpretation of these House Rules and any terms or expressions herein is the sole prerogative of the Organisers.
